A member just came across the new film "God's Architects" by Zack Godshall. He suggested me to share it with you all ... After watching the trailer, and given that it's going to be out there in the public domain, we better know about it. Therefore, I am sharing it with you. However, I withhold my opinion for now. Check it out:

On a different front, the 2010 ACS Symposium committee is finishing details, so expect a call for participation sometimes by mid November.
